ELIGIBILITY FOR ENDORSEMENT OF NURSE AIDE CERTIFICATION

Certification by endorsement is only available for initial certification in Virginia. If you have previously been certified as a nurse aide in Virginia, DO NOT submit this application. You will need to apply for reinstatement of your lapsed certification instead. You can obtain the reinstatement application by contacting this office again for the correct application or by downloading it from <https://www.dhp.virginia.gov/Boards/Nursing/PractitionerResources/Forms/>

Your certification must also be in good standing in all states that you were certified and must be current in AT LEAST one state in which you hold certification. If you do not have a certificate that is current, please contact the nurse aide registry office in the state in which you were most recently certified and employed as a nurse aide to determine whether your certification can be renewed/reinstated.

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING EXCEPTIONS/ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR SELECTED STATES:

FL, MD, CA	If certified in these states PRIOR TO 1992, you may NOT meet requirements for endorsement as set forth in the Virginia Board of Nursing Regulations Governing Certified Nurse Aides as none of those states performed competency testing meeting federal requirements prior to that date.
MD	MD issues certifications for geriatric nurse aide (G.N.A.), NOT a certified nurse aide (C.N.A.), in order to be eligible for endorsement in Virginia. Maryland's C.N.A. is not equivalent to Virginia's C.N.A. designation and does not meet the endorsement requirements as set forth in Virginia Board of Nursing Regulations Governing the Practice of Certified Nurse Aides. If you were certified as a GNA during 1992, the Board will need verification that you took the nurse aide competency exam
AL, IL	If certified in these states and two years or more have elapsed since that State's registry office has been informed of employment for you by your employer, the Board will send you additional paperwork in order to obtain your employment history.
SC (prior to 10/1/02) NC (after 1998) Hawaii (prior to 2008) FL	These states did/do not approve all education programs through the nurse aide regulatory authority. Therefore, if you challenged the State test through having completed a non-approved program, a preparatory, or a one/two-day review program, you would not meet the requirements for endorsement as set forth in the Virginia Board of Nursing Regulations Governing the Practice of Certified Nurse Aides. Please provide proof of program completion (certificate/letter from program director) from your original State of certification.
